A Coffee, Café, কফি , Kaffee, καφέ, caffè, kawa: An Open Discussion of the Experiences of Immigrant and Racialized Women Survivors of Sexual Assault in Accessing Primary Health Care Services

The Peel Committee on Sexual Assault, through funding from the Canadian Institutes of Health Research, is hosting an informal discussion on the barriers in accessing primary health care services for immigrant and racialized women survivors of sexual assault. A group of empowering panelists, with expertise in the area of sexual assault, will openly discuss their personal experiences as immigrant and racialized women and provide attendees with opportunities to connect with them and each other on this topic.

This event is wheelchair accessible. Light snacks and beverages will be provided. Free underground parking is available.

Transportation:

- Wheel trans costs will be covered for those attendees requiring this service
- Public transportation cost will be covered for attendees that request this.
